Norwich Boy Writes From Nogales

George H. Lynch Hears From Son Who is With Company L
600 Feet From Mexican Border—Rattle-Snake Hunting
Chief Excitement—Disastrous Results When Camp
Pitched in Old River Bed—Company Has Banner Ball Team.

George D. Lynch of 6 Rock street, East Side, received this interesting letter from George O. Lynch who went with Company L of William's to the border. He describes the company's arrival at the border and some of the incidents of camp life. He writes:

Nogales, Ariz.,

July 21, 1916.

We arrived here July 2, about 3.30 o'clock. We had to wait at the station for about an hour waiting for orders before we could proceed to our camp, which was about one mile from the depot. As soon as we arrived there we had to cut cactus and sage-bush, before we could pitch tents. The auto-trucks could not get into camp on account of the mud in some places. We were here about a week when the rainy season started. And then we found out we were in an old river bed, and just as soon as it started to rain the water would come coming up until the water would be about six inches deep. After that happened a few times they decided to change the Company's troops over in back of the Twenty-First Infantry.

This place is just opposite from the old camp grounds. We are now 3800 feet above sea level. With plenty of high mountains around here you can get some fine views. There is a cool breeze blowing all of the time. The thermometer seldom gets above 90. The only thing we have to pest us now is rattle-snakes. There have been quite a few of them killed, for they are all hunting them to get their skins. Company L has got the honor of being the nearest company of miles to the Mexican border. Our camp is only 600 feet from the border, and all the boys wish we were 600 feet the other side. The only work we have to do is five hours drill each day. Company L has got a baseball team that issues a challenge to the other companies. The team contains some of the best players from the Thresh City, besides Francis Dougherty of the fast Yandit team and myself. Arizona's mountains might be pretty, but I would rather on the little old hills of Connecticut.

GEORGE O. LYNCH,
Co. L, 1st Connecticut Infantry.

RAMPANT AUTOMOBILE

STAVES IN WINDOW
William H. Murphy Had Unmerciful Visitor at Main Street Store.

Murphy's five and ten cent store on Main street was broken into Thursday morning about 9 o'clock, not by a burglar, but by an uncontrollable automobile driven by Hugh Galley of No. 55 Fair View avenue, Pawtucket, R. I.

Mr. Galley was on his way to the state penitentiary, and when he approached Main street the machine started skidding and became uncontrollable, the machine dived towards the sidewalk at the side of the store, through one of Mr. Murphy's large plate glass windows. Mr. Galley was thrown from the machine and landed in the gutter, showing his white way to the state institution.

The crash made a big noise which attracted a crowd. Some of the window fixtures were completely demolished and part of the window frame was splintered. A serious damage was done to the machine except breaking the glass in one of the headlight and bending the mudguards.

Seventy-five Attend Social Corner
Outing at Home of Mrs. Louis Olson—Winners in Games and Contests—News in General.

Members of the Social Corner of The Bulletin from Danvers, William Leiben, Franklin, Plainfield, Bostons, Poquetanock, Hailville, Preston, Mansfield, Dryville and Danvers, arrived Thursday at the hospitable home of Mrs. Louis Olson, whose pen name is Aunt Abby.

In spite of the threatening weather, seventy-five members came together from 10 o'clock on, and the time until noon was very pleasantly spent. A luncheon of salads, baked beans, sandwiches, sliced ham, cheese, tea and coffee, plus cake, were enjoyed as well as being furnished by "Aunt Abby" and a delicious ice cream sent by The Bulletin company.

Y. M. C. A. WORK

ALONG THE BORDER
Army and Navy Department Plans 25 Branches at Militia Camp.

New York, July 27.—The Army and Navy Department of the Young Men's Christian Association, dealing with the first general mobilization of the National Guard of the United States since the organization was officially recognized by general orders of the War Department, announced some interesting features of its plan for work among the troops on the Mexican border. The Association plans to establish at least twenty-five fully equipped branches at camps where there are brigades or single regiments of troops, and through these to demonstrate the efficiency of the Association's work in soldier life.

Officers of the War Department, from the Secretary of War, and the members of the general staff down, recognize the danger of breakdown in morale among the troops, and men in their new environment and they are not only welcoming the Association work but urging that it be established wherever possible. The Association is offering co-operation to the fullest extent under military rules and regulations. Every step that has been taken has been after consultation with the higher officers of the War Department and the army and all plans for work among the troops are put into execution after consultation with the commanders in the field, who are of possible assistance and cooperation.

Of the twenty-five Association branches or units to be established, several already have their outlines in operation and report encouraging interest and support from the troops. Other branches are being organized as rapidly as material, equipment, and men can be assembled. At nearly all of the permanent stations on the border, especially where there are chaplains, the Association has had its work in operation for some time past. The outfit for an Association branch at a brigade camp comprises a frame building with full equipment, in charge of a secretary and four assistants. Should more than one brigade be in the same camp, additional brigade branches are required. The regimental headquarters, where there is a chaplain, will have a smaller building, in charge of a secretary and one or more assistants. After the work is established among the brigades and regimental units of troops, plans are being developed for battalion branches and for the third New York Infantry as a permanent unit.

More than one hundred secretaries will be employed in the work already planned among the troops. The Army and Navy Department is sending all secretaries with army experience to the border, and the Association is releasing from other work. Under the direction of the Department there are a number of men of the best type who are being trained for work among the troops in the war with Spain. Most of these are being entrusted with the work of organizing and supervision in the field.

It is the business of the secretaries in charge to make the Association branch a cheery spot in the monotony of camp life on the border. In the extreme heat of a Texas summer with no shade, the Association work is as far as conditions will permit.

The standard equipment includes a first class talking machine with one hundred up-to-date records and a sound motion picture machine with films. There is usually an information bureau and a safe deposit box for the troops. be under the strain of watching for raiders. It is planned that the railroad and detached outposts shall receive attention through traveling secretaries. Men on duty along the railroads will be visited by secretaries at the outposts with supplies of books, magazines, newspapers and writing materials. The men at points remote from the railroads will be reached by secretaries on motorcycles. Nothing will be left undone which will bring cheer and companionship to the fellows who are using outpost duty.
